| Я поділила систему на великих 9 частин, кожна частина має свій дрібний функціонал, деякі з частин такі як інтеграція, аналітика, конструктор - включають у себе доволі комплексні і складні функціональності, але результат у кожної групи для різних функціональностей служить для отримання одних і тих же цілей.   |                              |                         |                             |                              |                              |                         |                   |                   |                   |                   |                              |   |  |   |                   |  |
| Я думаю, якби варто було б проводити регресію всієї системи, то формат ТК я б обрала стандартний, адже це доволі великі функціональності і потрібно перш за все швидко та ефективно провести регресію. Щодо використання методик тест аналізу, думаю я б могла застосувати Decision table, адже це допомогло б також викинути кейси, які не є потрібними і які є невалідними. Також було б чудово застосувати State Transition адже це наочн показало б по яких степах йти і які сценарії залучити, щоб отримати той чи інший стан системи. |                              |                         |                             |                              |                              |                         |                   |                   |                   |                   |                              |   |  |   |                   |  |
| Стандартних ТК є достатньо , адже важкі системи важкими і "спеціальними" кейсами покрити буде вдвічі важче, адже на мою думку це все лише ускладнить.   |                              |                         |                             |                              |                              |                         |                   |                   |                   |                   |                              |   |  |   |                   |  |
